SUNDAY, MARCH 26TH, 2017

THIS MORNING:

During the week and on Sunday mornings, many different kinds of people make their way through the doors of our church building. Some come in asking for help; eyes puffy, clothes dishevelled, their troubles written all over their faces. Others come in looking fine on the outside, but inside are living, as Henry David Thoreau put it, “lives of quiet desperation.”

This morning we meet a man in the Gospel of Mark whose desperation was anything but quiet. He lived in a graveyard and spent his days and nights screaming and slashing himself with stones. He was demon-possessed. Can you think of anything more miserable than that? The man was without hope and alone in a world of self-destructive torment. Then he met Jesus, and everything changed.

At first glance, we may assume that we have little in common with this man. But we are wrong. Demonic power is alive and well in this world, and we are not immune to its influence. Furthermore, whether we appear respectable on the outside or look like a total mess, we are all equally in need of Jesus’ saving power in our lives. It is this power that we learn about in our Bible passage this morning—not an impersonal force but the mercy that flows from the heart of God and is available to each one of us in the person of Jesus Christ.

MISSIONARY OF THE WEEK

ROGER AND CARRIE LIEGMANN
WESTMOUNT CHURCH
WEST KELOWNA, BC

Roger and Carrie Liegmann have lived in the Okanagan Valley in British Columbia for a decade. It was a few years ago that they felt prompted by the Holy Spirit to plant a new church in West Kelowna. Their greatest desire is to proclaim the glory of God and invite people into a personal relationship with Jesus Christ. They launched worship services in October 2013. Pray for experienced, mature elders with a heart to train, serve, and equip the body of Christ. Also pray for volunteers to step up and take ownership in different ministries, especially in web design, video, and graphic design. You can find them online at westmountchurch.com.
